Considerable discussion has arisen in the past few days as to the permission granted to the women bathers to don one-piece suits, but apparently the city will not interfere so long as the ladies really go swimming and do not parade the beach. A beach parade is the latest idea to be put into execution by the Boardwalk merchants. The participants in the march will only need to appear on the bathing beach at 10:30 on the morning of September 1. The parade will be marshaled on the beach sands and will march to the Ocean Pier from the Casino, and then will counter march. Prizes will be awarded to the prettiest suit and other novel entries. The parade will be awarded at the Casino bandstand on the afternoon of the same day and will be announced at 3 o'clock. Business men of the Casino hotel will give an open-air children's party next Friday evening. Grow-ups will have their turn, however, for the latter part of the evening will be devoted to a masked carnival.
